Description

Atikuss, the first Aboriginal ÉCONOMUSÉE® in Canada, offers a complete visitor experience in three languages (Innu, French and English).

The company specializes in creating unique, high-quality handmade products inspired by the traditional First Nations beadwork and ancestral weaving techniques. They work with local artisans to bring history to life by creating unique garments and accessories.

The new building houses a production area, a boutique, an interpretive tour, wall projections, an audio trail and touch screens. It is even an olfactory ambiance, making it a unique, high-quality destination for discovering the wealth of the Innu people skills.

All products are created using traditional methods focusing on sustainable practices, waste reduction and giving back to the community. The company is particularly proud of the quality and beauty of its famous Hopeboots, of the warmest snowmobile boots in Canada, mukluks and authentic moccasins. This flagship project for the Atikuss brand aims to preserve the memory of the First Nations and pass on this age-old art form.

Come and enjoy a fun, human experience in a unique, immersive, educational environment in Quebec.
